Loss of Patent Rights Due to Failure to Timely Respond During Reexamination

This notice is intended to remind patent owners and patent practitioners that patent rights can be, and have been, lost as a result of the failure to timely respond to an Office action, or meet a time deadline, in a reexamination proceeding. Failure to timely respond, meet a time deadline, or timely request an extension of time results in termination of a reexamination proceeding under 37 CFR 1.550(d) and issuance of a reexamination certificate under 37 CFR 1.570 in accordance with the last action of the Office. Neither the statute nor the rules provide for reviving the terminated proceeding. A certificate must issue.

Practitioners are reminded that requests for an extension of time in a reexamination proceeding must be filed under 37 CFR 1.550(c) with an appropriate justification and not by payment of an extension of time fee under 37 CFR 1.136(a). Further, such requests must be filed on or before the day on which the response is due.

The statute requires that reexamination be conducted with special dispatch. Accordingly, such proceedings are treated "special" throughout the PTO including the setting of two month shortened statutory periods for response to Office actions wherein extensions of time are controlled by the Office under §1.550(c) and not by the patent owner under §1.136(a). Further, special monitoring of reexamination is regularly conducted throughout the Office to insure timeliness. Applications are separately tracked and monitored in the PTO's PALM (Patent Application Locating and Monitoring) system. Particularly attention is given to newly filed requests to insure that the determination on whether or not to order reexamination is mailed within the three month statutory deadline. The reexamination file wrapper is quickly compiled and forwarded to the examining group within one month of the filing of the request for reexamination by a special Reexamination Preprocessing Unit located in the Application Branch. For ease of identification, reexamination files have a special and unique "control number" identification numbering system separate and apart from the regular "serial number" series used for regular patent applications. The reexamination files are bright orange in color to insure that they are not "lost in the crowd" of regular application files. The reexamination files are stored together in each examining group separate and apart from regular applications. A special printing cycle for accelerated publication of the reexamination certificate is utilized.

It has become apparent that many practitioners have not read the rules or if they have read the rules they have been unwilling to appreciate the significance of the special dispatch requirement of the statute and the intent of the regulations implementing that special dispatch. As noted above, appropriate rules have been drafted and extraordinary steps have been taken within the PTO to implement the special dispatch requirement. In contrast, as evidenced by recent petitions in reexamination proceedings, it appears that some practitioners have not adopted appropriate and necessary special docketing and operating procedures to insure proper and timely compliance with the special dispatch requirement and the regulations adopted for its implementation. It is expected that practitioners will take the steps necessary to provide appropriate in-house special docketing and operating procedures which earmark reexamination cases as different and apart from regular applications. These steps should be taken to insure timely response in reexamination proceedings and to prevent the loss of patent rights. The existence or non-existence of such steps and the manner in which any steps are implemented will be a significant consideration in reviewing any petition requesting a waiver of the rules to accept a late response in a reexamination proceeding.

The public is hereby put on notice that the rules relating to timely response and extension of time practice in reexamination proceedings will be strictly enforced in the future.

DONALD J. QUIGG,
Commissioner of Patents and Trademarks.

Reference Collections of U.S. Patents Available for Public Use in Patent Depository Libraries

The following libraries, designated as Patent Depository Libraries, receive current issues of U.S. Patents and maintain collections of earlier issued patents. The scope of these collections varies from library to library, ranging from patents of only recent years to all or most of the patents issued since 1790.

These patent collections are open to public use and each of the Patent Depository Libraries, in addition, offers the publications of the U.S. Patent Classification System (e.g. The Manual of Classification, Index to the U.S. Patent Classification, Classification Definitions, etc.) and provides technical staff assistance in their use to aid the public in gaining effective access to information contained in patents. With one exception, as noted in the table following, the collections are organized in patent number sequence.

Facilities for making paper copies from either microfilm in reader-printers or from the bound volumes in paper-to-paper copies are generally provided for a fee.

Owing to variations in the scope of patent collections among the Patent Depository Libraries and in their hours of service to the public, anyone contemplating use of the patents at a particular library is advised to contact that library, in advance, about its collection and hours, so as to avert possible inconvenience.

SECTION 1.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).

SECTION 2.—INTERNATIONAL CLASSIFICATION

The short titles associated below with the international class numbers are terms designed merely for quick identification and are not an official part of the international classification. The full names of international classes are given in section 6.1 of the trademark rules of practice.

The designation "U.S. Cl." appearing in this section refers to the U.S. class in effect prior to Sep. 1, 1973 rather than the international class which applies to applications filed on or after that date. For adoption of international classification see notice in the OFFICIAL GAZETTE of Jun. 26, 1973 (911 O.G. TM 210).
